II About the strategy

Date published	2012 May
Signed by a minister	Yes
Duration	48 months
Number of pages	48

The approach: How does the department plan to use the broader environment in which it exists (element 1) to leverage its strengths and embrace its weaknesses (element 2) so that it can provide benefits in accordance with its vision (element 3)?

The approach is to coordinate recovery plans under the CERA Act by ensuring government, individuals, groups, clubs, communities, iwi, councils, the public and the public sector can share resources when necessary and identify which agency is controlling which recovery programme.

Read more about the GDS's vision on page 1.
Is the strategy illustrated? Yes, see page 8.

III Assessing stakeholder usefulness

If a public servant new to the policy area had an hour to read this GDS, would they be able to understand the approach (element 4) and the implementation and review processes (element 5)?

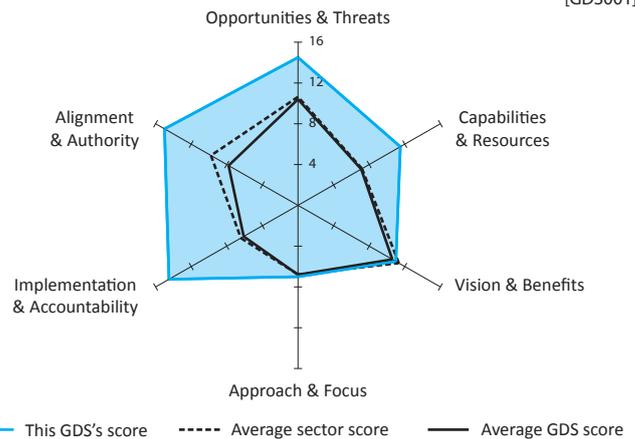

The key points of the issue are explained comprehensively. The GDS also explains what it is not able to address, which is extremely valuable information. There is information about how the outcomes sought will be achieved, but this could be explained more in more detail. There is good discussion of financial assets and partnerships.

If an uninformed member of the public had 30 minutes to read this GDS, would they be able to understand the purpose (element 3), the approach (element 4), the implementation and review processes (element 5) and how this approach fits with the broader goals of government (element 6)?

The overall purpose and strategic outcomes are clearly articulated. The GDS explains how it was drafted and the groups that were involved in this. There is a very clear section outlining exactly how and where the GDS will be reviewed. The GDS's structure is logical and clear, making it easy to read.
