Duration	144 months
Number of pages	28

The approach: How does the department plan to use the broader environment in which it exists (element 1) to leverage its strengths and embrace its weaknesses (element 2) so that it can provide benefits in accordance with its vision (element 3)?

The approach is to provide direction for workplace health and safety which builds on existing legislative frameworks by coordinating efforts across many agencies including government agencies, local government, unions and industry organisations.

Read more about the GDS's vision on page 2.
Is the strategy illustrated? Yes, see page 11.

III Assessing stakeholder usefulness

If a public servant new to the policy area had an hour to read this GDS, would they be able to understand the approach (element 4) and the implementation and review processes (element 5)?

The key points of the issue are covered – the scoping of threats in the focus area is very comprehensive. A public servant would understand how the outcomes sought will be achieved for the most part, including who is responsible for each part of the plan.

If an uninformed member of the public had 30 minutes to read this GDS, would they be able to understand the purpose (element 3), the approach (element 4), the implementation and review processes (element 5) and how this approach fits with the broader goals of government (element 6)?

The overall purpose is clear and well set out, although the strategy could have provided context in a better way. The strategic outcomes are well articulated. The review processes are detailed very well.
